Appreciative Inquiry and Generative Collaborations – to accelerate and sustain whole system change

The global business community has rarely faced a more pressing need for whole system change and generative collaborations with staff, partners, customers and communities.

No matter what business you are in, over the coming years, you will need to discover and unleash the extraordinary in your people, your organization and your community.

This workshop will offer you a fresh and alternative approach!

The leaders we work with are asking these questions:

- How can we quickly define and leverage all our strengths?
- What will create environments of engagement that inspire and sustain extraordinary contributions?
- How can we keep innovating, tapping our collective wisdom and resourcefulness to find solutions for the way forward?
- How do we shift perspective, to reframe, as our markets and culture ask for more from us?
- What will it take for us to collaborate better, both inside our organisation and with our customers, clients and communities?

Discover your answers to these questions and find proven ways to tap the hidden capacities of your whole system in this interactive one-day introduction to Appreciative Inquiry and Strength-Based Organising.

APPRECIATIVE INQUIRY EVERYDAY

THREE DAY MASTERCLASS

SYDNEY 25, 26, 27 MARCH
MELBOURNE 18, 19, 20 MARCH

Appreciative Inquiry everyday

– building collaborations that engage, energise and inspire positive action

Never has the need for collaboration been more important in our organisations and in the world. From dealing with the impact of fast-paced change on an individual organisation, to multi-stakeholder collaboration on safeguarding our oceans. Our capacity to come together and generate meaningful change is the key.

AI Everyday is intended to expand our capacity for generative and sustained collaboration. This practical, interactive 3-day workshop explores the theory and practice of Appreciative Inquiry as a strengths-based, collaborative approach to whole-system change and organisational effectiveness. Whether that system be a team, a company, or a community of multiple, diverse stakeholders.

It is designed for anyone seeking to obtain a solid grounding in AI and to learn to effectively initiate positive collaboration and change.

You will enrich and transform your understanding of:

- Effective leadership and learning in the current environment
- The impact of questions in creating desired change
- The power of language and stories
- Reframing from a problem to possibilities
- Managing from strengths
- The principles and key capacities of collaboration
- Ways to engage in your work and with teams
